Every year 2,000 of these type of transplants are done in our hospital.

We are able to treat complex chronic diseases from a comprehensive approach. That is why we are the best paediatric oncology hospital in Spain and the leading centre for stem cell transplants, with more than 1200 performed so far.

Making healthcare more human

We promote innovation at all levels. From a practical point of view, we identify needs and transfer knowledge and skills. On the other hand, from research, we work permanently to include new treatments and new diagnostic methods.

More than 11,000 hours of voluntary work dedicated to make children smile

95 partners have made a donation last year

"Patients first and always"

We do clinical research to improve the quality of future medicine

34 research lines dedicated to women's and children's diseases

The main goal of any research centre is to identify and apply new solutions to the health problems of our society, with an international outlook. With the aim of creating a disruptive innovation based on curiosity and imagination, we start from our daily health problems arising from the hospital.

We transfer to society the knowledge developed in our research centres.

More than 100 medical residents a year

Vall d'Hebron is a university hospital with more than 40 years of experience in training medicine and nurse specialists. In 2016, the Women's & Children's Hospital trained 105 doctor and nurse residents from 7 medical specialties.

In this last case is quite usual between professionals who want to increase the knowledge in their particular specialization working side by side with the best in their field. At the hospital we also develop 8 Masters Programs and 1 postgraduate.
